From the Desk of

Mark Eddy
Head Coach
Coloma HS Football

Thank you for sponsoring our team.

History has proven that many of today's athletes will emerge as tomorrow's leaders.

So, in addition to enhancing our resources, your support will inspire out students to excel in competition as well as in the classroom.

Their success at balancing academics and football is a tribute to the positive influences in their lives, like you.

Coach Eddy

Dear Friends and Family,

Coach Eddy asked each member of the team to put together a list of important people in our lives.

I hope that you don't mind that I have included you on mine.

I am writing to request that you sponsor me with a donation of $25 dollars or more for new uniforms, weight room equipment, next generation helmets, camps and video software we can use to improve our game planning ability. In the race for excellence, resources like these can maximize our program.

However, as you probably know, one of the consequences of the difficult economic environment across the country is tremendous pressure on funding for education and athletics in particular – even here at Coloma.

Many costs that budgets traditionally covered must now be paid for through other means. Unfortunately, no amount of hard work in practice or touchdowns scored can change that equation. At Coloma we are trying to be as proactive as possible.

I also want you to know a little more about us. Today, being a student-athlete is both a challenge and a privilege. It's a challenge because I must balance academic responsibilities with long hours of practicing and competing. And hopefully have some time for friends!

It's a privilege because athletics are often very influential within the school community. How I conduct myself before, during and after games is a reflection not just on me but also on my school and hometown.

Lastly, playing high school football is about much more than wins and losses. I am learning about leadership, teamwork, and developing a strong work ethic. Those are lessons I can apply to every phase of my life, now and in the future.

Now you know why your support can have such a dramatic impact and why I am so appreciative of your help. To say thanks – whether or not you can contribute – it just the tip of the iceberg of our appreciation. Please visit our school website to learn more about our school and football program.

Thanks again...you're the best!
